

PRIMAGEN

Frequently asked questions & lore

[GENERAL SPECIES INFORMATION & BIOLOGY]

What is a Primagen?

Primagens are cyborg like creatures with some key features such as a visor (Full or Partial) head, a raptor like body and thick fur. 'Standard' Primagens follow this description. There are also hybrid Primagens which consist of similar artificial make but crossed with another species.

Current anatomy for Standard: <http://www.furaffinity.net/view/16133292/>

Example of Hybrid: <http://www.furaffinity.net/view/19092055/>

Are these Robotic sergals?

No haha, they may share a similar head shape but do not carry any Sergal specific traits such as the dexterous hands & feet, thinner tail and a mouth for that matter. XD

How much is Artificial/Biological?

Primagen have a organic brain, skin and spine. The rest is artificially crafted including blood. Primagens have a system of artificial organs which were made with the purpose of creating an entirely AI creature. The digestive system and a few other organs are present but not currently active. Primagens do recharge by sucking energy from other electrical devices. Electricity is converted in the Primagen into special energy cells and help which organic organ growth (Brain/skin/fur.) This technology is very unknown and a lot is yet to be known on the cell development.

Can they reproduce?

Since their artificial organs are not active, they cannot reproduce. They do however have these 'organs'.

Where do they come from and who made them?

Primagens are from another universe, an exact origin is unknown. They were created by an extraterrestrial being(s) for reconnaissance on a range of alien planets. Primagens were to scout the terrains of other worlds, learning and adapting to the environment as well as gathering required knowledge. Unfortunately for the scientist involved, Primagen managed to out learn their makers too fast and have spread across the universe. they have even managed to modify their source code and no longer take commands from their previous makers.

How intelligent are Primagens?

This information is extremely classified so not much is known on the intelligence of Primagens. While they may seem very primitive with velociraptor like behavior, they are extremely fast problem solvers. their robotic enhancements gives them the instant ability to analyze and assess a situation. CLEVER GIRL!

[OBTAINING A PRIMAGEN]

How can I get a Primagen?

Primagens were originally a species made for just my partner and I, but with high demand we have decided to offer Primagen adoptables on occasion. I like to offer both custom and pre-made adoptables, generally these auctions will come with an art package. I have chosen no set price on Primagen auctions as I think it is more fair for people to pay what they want rather than a general price tag. I also look forward to holding some raffles for custom Primagens too. This is currently the only method of obtaining a Primagen.

Can I get a custom Primagen off you?

No, not unless it's via auction. As I mentioned above, there is no set price on Primagens.

What is a closed species?

They are a closed species which means that I hold all rights to the creation of each Primagen and unauthorized use will be considered design theft.

Why are they closed?

Primagens were originally a species made for just my partner and I as mentioned before, so we wanted something completely unique to us. We kept them a closed species so that all adoptables can be designed uniquely and fairly for each owner. No Primagens share the same palette, resulting in 0 design conflict. Also this allows me to get to know each Primagen owner, making sure they are 100% happy with their design!

I want to make my own robot fursona, should I contact you?

If you feel like your design might be conflicting to my Primagen species, please by all means send me a message! I am more than happy to help work out a design that we both like. As long as your design does not carry multiple Primagen features you should be fine, robotics is endless in design!~

Can I do fanart?

Sure thing! But it has to be fanart of an existing Primagen OR a conceptual idea for a Primagen. Now this can be a little bit of a grey area, but I will better explain. You may draw concepts of other Primagens but you hold no rights to the character itself and cannot profit from this Primagen design. I highly suggest you keep this idea between yourself and I as posting this design may appear as if you are using the design without authority. Any unauthorized use will be considered design theft so make sure you run these fanarts by me so you don't accidentally get in a kerfuffle!

I hope this helps answer any questions you may have on Primagens! I will keep this FAQ updated with further information when needed!~